What is involved in creating a website? There is a lot of work that has to be put in, in design, desenvolvimento de sites na web, research, promotion, selecting a name, and much, much more. Perhaps it is this that puts thousands of potential website owners off of diving in, and making their own websites.

CRIA1 is a new web criacao de sites CRIA1 service that cuts out most of those steps, meaning that creating a whole new website requires far less work, which leaves the creator to get on with the more important things, marketing, without having to worry about maintaining anything, as it is all handled for one fixed monthly fee.
